

Athens Area Humane Society Plans Celebration In Honor of Betty White's 100th Birthday

ATHENS, GA - The Athens Area Humane Society announces that it will host a birthday celebration to honor America's sweetheart and most celebrated animal lover and activist, Betty White. The highlight of the Betty White 'Homes for All' Birthday Celebration will feature no-cost, sponsored adoptions for all shelter animals aged eight months and older.

Cheryl McCormick, CEO of the Athens Area Humane Society, says "While we were all deeply saddened by the passing of Betty White, we know that she would want her adoring fans to celebrate her centennial birthday by rescuing and finding homes for the animals she loved so much. We can think of no better way to honor America's sweetheart than to unite deserving shelter pets with loving homes in her name. Every person deserves the unconditional love and affection that a pet offers."

The Betty White 'Homes for All' Birthday Celebration will showcase interaction areas where guests can experience 'puppy playtime and kitty cuddles', a collection of White's life stories, quotes, and experiences with beloved pets and wildlife, and will feature three of Betty White's favorite foods - potato chips, Red Vines, and Diet Coke.

"I think Betty White would want us to be positively irreverent on her birthday - to celebrate her life in a silly, loving, and fun way, always with our beloved pets by our side. She may have crossed the rainbow bridge, but her legacy of love lives on every day through our work to rescue companion animals. And I hope she's united with every animal that ever shared her heart and her home", says McCormick.

The Athens Area Humane Society's Betty White 'Homes for All' Birthday Celebration will take place on Monday, January 17th, from 12:00-6:00 PM, at the AAHS pet shelter, located at 1030 Mitchell Bridge Road, Athens, GA 30606.
